This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

+ Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
+ Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
+ Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
+ Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

FLAGS OF THE CONFEDERATE ARMY AND NAVY*

1. THE STARS AND BARS

The flag recommended by the "Committee on a Proper Flag for the Confederate States of America," appointed by the Provisional Congress, in its report of March 4, 1861, is as follows:

"That the flag of the Confederate States of America shall consist of a red field with a white space extending horizontally through the center, and equal in width to one-third the width of the flag. The red space above and below to be of the same width as the white. The union blue extending down through the white space and stopping at the lower red space. In the center of the union a circle of white stars, corresponding in number with the States in the Confederacy.

"NOTE.—The union is square; the stars five-pointed. The length of the flag one and a half times the width."

*This description of the flags of the Confederate Government was prepared and kindly furnished by Dr. Samuel E. Lewis of Washington, D. C.

2. THE BATTLE FLAG

The Battle Flag is square, having a Greek Cross (saltier) of blue and white, with thirteen equal white five-pointed stars; upon a red field; the whole bordered with white. There are three sizes: Infantry, 48 inches square; Artillery, 36 inches square; Cavalry, 30 inches square. The proportions for an Infantry Flag are: 48 inches by 48 inches (exclusive of the border); the blue arms of the cross, 7½ inches wide; the white edging to the cross, ½ inch wide; the white border around the flag proper, 1½ inches wide. Total outside measurement, 51 inches. The stars are five-pointed, inscribed within a circle of 6 inches diameter, and are of uniform size. There should be five eyelet holes in the hoist, next the pole. The Artillery and Cavalry flags are correspondingly reduced in all proportions.

3. THE NATIONAL FLAG

established by Congress May 1, 1863, is as follows:

"The Congress of the Confederate States of America do enact, That the Flag of the Confederate States shall be as follows: The field to be white, the length double the width of the flag, with the union (now used as the Battle Flag) to be a square of two-thirds the width of the flag, having the ground red; thereon a broad saltier of blue, bordered with white, and emblazoned with white mullets or five-pointed stars, corresponding in number to that of the Confederate States."

4. THE NATIONAL FLAG

established by Congress March 4, 1865, is as follows:

"The Congress of the Confederate States of America do enact, That the Flag of the Confederate States of America shall be as follows: The width, two-thirds of its length, with the union now used as the Battle Flag, to be in width three-fifths of the width of the flag, and so proportioned as to leave the length of the field on the side of the union twice the width of the field below it; to have the ground red and a broad blue saltier thereon, bordered with white and emblazoned with mullets or five-pointed stars, corresponding in number to that of the Confederate States; the field to be white except the outer half from the union to be a red bar extending the width of the flag.

THE FLAGS FLOWN BY THE NAVY

THE STARS AND BARS

This flag has been previously described.

THE NEW ENSIGN

The new Ensign, Pennant, and Jack, by order of the Secretary of the Navy, May 26, 1863, as follows:

"The New Ensign will be made according to the following directions, viz.: The field to be white, the length one and a half times the width of the flag, with the union (now used as the Battle Flag, having the ground red, thereon a broad saltier of blue, to the union as 14⅘, bordered with white, to the union as 1 : 22, and emblazoned with white mullets, or five-pointed stars, diameter of stars to union as 1 : 6⅖, corresponding in number to that of the Confederate States.

THE PENNANT

"A white ground, its size to be as 1 : 72, or its length seventy-two times its width at the head, and tapering to a point.

"The union of the Pennant to be as follows: All red from the head for three times its width, with white border equal to half its width, then all blue in length equal to twelve times its width, to be emblazoned with stars, in numbers equal to those in the Ensign, with a white border equal to half the width, and then red three times the width, with the fly all white."

THE JACK

"To be the same as the union for the Ensign, except its length shall be one and a half times its width."
